INTELLIGENT DELIVERY SOLUTIONS

Can you answer "No" to the questions below?

Is your offshore testing going well?

- T -

Did you get a great price but the quality is wrong?

- E -

Is your software delivered late with questionable quality?

- S -

Does your testing just take too long?

- T -

Are you testing everything as if it is the same?

- I -

Are you losing lots of time to environment issues?

- N -

Are you spending on testing but not improving quality?

- G -

Is your testing a bottleneck that is slowing progress?

Testing has long been a point of frustration for many law firms and the questions in the previous page are some of the more regular challenges we see organisations facing. In most cases we can help overcome them. Our goal is simple: to help firms consistently launch without fail.

Our engagements always start with listening and understanding the clients needs and desires. Startups or SME firms may need fast efficient solutions tailored to mitigate risks. Larger firms may need more complex solutions focused on complex system integration. Needs will vary between agile and v-model, or it may just be that you are outsourcing and would like some expertise to help you achieve this efficiently.

The challenge is always to achieve a mitigation of risk, achieve the right level of quality without impacting timescales and costing a fortune. What changes is your specific needs, your definition of risk, your specific requirements, timescales and budget. We are happy to engage at any level, from a one day Test Surgery through to a fully Managed Testing Services. What we will ensure is that it meets your needs, does not test for the sake of it, stays in the UK and provides you with Intelligent Testers. We are prepared to rip up the rulebook and challenge the status quo in order to achieve your goals. Intelligent Testers think "out of the box"; see process as a guide not as handcuffs.

We are not going to offer you offshore rates and a one size fits all approach. We are here to bring intelligence to your testing function, Test in a smart manner and make the process as fast and efficient as possible. Not give you a small army that ends up costing you more.

If your testing is in trouble, no matter the extent: If you want a direct and honest approach with a UK company that truly values it's clients as partners: If you want a direct and transparent engagement with professionals: Then we should at least have a conversation.

Call us on +44(0)161 240 3603